From the Curator's Note:

Maitri or friendship is suggestive of reaching out to each other and developing strong bonds. The week-long India-China art residency program held in Jaipur from November 4th, 2014 is evidence of the fact that given an opportunity, humans strive to connect at a deeper significant level and that peace propagates peace. Like the colors of their palette the works by these artists also represented diversity and provided a panoramic view of the development of art through the years. It was like a microcosmic rendition of both the countries, a space where the modern coexists with the traditional. The residency was an amalgamation of myriad moods and expressions, all coming together as a beautiful whole. The works held in themselves the cultural ethos and the way forward.
